

Learn how to incorporate and apply multicultural skills and competencies in a treatment setting

Designed for use in multicultural counseling courses, graduate-level practicum, or as part of a counseling techniques course, Case Studies in Multicultural Counseling and Therapy provides students with the opportunity to think critically and learn how to incorporate and apply multicultural skills and competencies in a treatment setting. This book features case studies from leading scholars and practitioners in the field and is written from both the perspective of the therapist/counselor and the client/consumer.

Aligned with ACA's CACREP accreditation standards, APA's Guidelines for Multicultural Competence, and the AMCD Multicultural Counseling Competencies, each case in the book:

- Covers ethical issues, applications to practice, and evidence-based practice
- Includes therapists' reflections on their own social identity and how this may have influenced their work with their clients
- Considers the intersectionality of racial/ethnic, class, religious, gender, and sexual identities
- Contains reflection and discussion questions, an analysis of the case by the author, and recommended resources
- Includes guidelines for integrating cultural formulation into assessment and treatment plans
